

Quincie Douglas named Tucson's Best

In its September 28, 2006 issue, Tucson Weekly named Quincie Douglas Pool the city's "Best Summer Pool." ABA Architects designed the pool and its grand opening was celebrated on April 26, 2006. Tucson Weekly writes: "This pool provides endless shrieking summer fun. It has built-in water toys that won't let you stop giggling, no matter what your age: a purple horse head that allows the operator to spray complete strangers with water; the highest, fastest, twistiest waterslide of any city pool; and our favorite, the buckets, a device that empties buckets of water onto bathers below. It's a wade-in pool; the depth starts at a toddler friendly 1-inch deep. There's a splash area with three play fountains including a pelican who spills water out of his beak. There are lawns, and three shaded picnic areas. Thanks to our new City Council, the price of a summer swim for a child has been rolled back from the Republican $1 to a Democratic 25 cents, allowing hundreds of low-income kids a safe, cool place to spend summer afternoons."
